The Management of the Khālsā College, Amritsar, has been running the Sikh History Research Department since the last thirty years. One of the objectives before the Department was the collection of historical material pertaining to modern History of the Punjāb beginning from the year 1469 A.D. onwards.

Since Persian was the Court language of the Punjāb before the British Rule, therefore many Persian manuscripts of historical value were also collected by this Department. A large sum of money was spent in acquiring the material from various places in India and abroad.

It is a matter of great satisfaction that the Government have now recognised the importance of these collections and have kindly provided funds for the printing of its catalogue. This project was approved by the Government in Octocber 1961, and within the year the catalogue should be in the hands of scholars I hope this publication will prove of use to research scholars and students for whose benefit it is being printed.

The Sikh History Research Department of Khālsā College, Amritsar has in the past thirty years seriously endeavoured to collect manuscripts dealing with the history of the Punjāb. It has also transcribed and obtained photostat copies of manuscripts available elsewhere. It has now prepared a scientific and comprehensive catalogue of its manuscripts. Such a catalogue is a store-house of knowledge and serves as a pathfinder to those interested in this field of knowledge. For the research scholar, it epitomises in one volume the varied information on different facets of history of this particular period and helps and guides him to arrive at the original sources which alone form the basis of true appraisal of history. In uniformity with other catalogues published by the Ministry of Scientific Research and Cultural Affairs, this catalogue has followed the pattern set by the Government but in addition essential and critical appraisal of the manuscripts has been given in the last column entitled "Additional Particulars." Other copies of the manuscripts available in different libraries in India and abroad have been mentioned for the benefit of scholars.

In the end, I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to the Government of India for providing funds for the publication of this catalogue. I sincerely hope that the future students of the history of the Punjāb will benefit from this work over which much time and labour has been spent. I congratulate Prof. Kirpāl Singh on the successful completion of the catalogue.

Foreword

"Heritage of the past is the seed that brings forth the harvest of the future." The saying has a special significance for the Punjāb where scarcity of original sources of information is acutely felt. Vast numbers of old manuscripts are still found in private custody or have been acquired by learned institutions outside the state.

How difficult it is to bring together widely scattered relics and records can be adequately realized only by those who have been engaged in this arduous task. The thrill of discovery and the satisfaction that the new finds may help to reconstruct our history sustain the explorer in his painstaking, though often unrewarding, labours.

As soon as the unknown and untapped manuscripts and documents have been salvaged or traced, their proper utilization by Research Scholars and others interested in their detailed study, requires attention. Consolidated information about all such valuable collections is, therefore, desired to be furnished to the public through suitable reference media. A descriptive catalogue on a standard pattern prescribed by Government of India would bring the materials extant at the Sikh History Research Department of the Khālsā College, Amritsar, to the notice of a much wider clientele and promote original research

The Sikh History Research Department Khālsā College Amritsar has been steadily enriched by the strenuous and sustained efforts of its energetic stewards during the last over thirty years. Fired with the missionary zeal to collect data pertaining to the history of the Sikhs in particular and to the modern Punjab in general, they have explored all possible avenues to build up a research institution in the state. Detailed information about the fruits of their labours is available in the catalogue. In addition to the original texts collected by the Department transcribed or photographed copies have been procured from varied sources like government agencies, family and individual collections, learned institutions and libraries within or outside Punjāb. Prolonged search and patient labours have produced the results which are now available at one place for the convenience of researchers

Shri Kirpāl Singh, who has been Incharge of the Department since 1950, has contributed his share to the rich harvest. The classified descriptive catalogue produced by him with the generous financial help of the Govt. of India is a creditable achievement. Although drawn up on the set pattern evolved by the Central Govt. for the catalogue, he has elaborated it by giving a critical appraisal of the outstanding items in the Preface and comments on their significance under the appropriate column in the table. The information furnished therein will be found to be fairly detailed for any one to form a clear idea of the value of manuscripts and documents brought together at the Sikh History Research Department.

It is earnestly hoped that the commendable example of Shri Kirpāl Singh in the preparation of the descriptive catalogue will be followed by other research institutions in the state to bring to light valuable collections of manuscripts and documents which can be utilized for detailed study and research.

Preface

The Khālsā College Amritsar has been running, since 1930, a history research section called Sikh History Research Department. This is in fact an institution in itself which is the only one of its kind in the Punjāb. The chief objective of this institution is to conduct researches on the modern history of the Punjāb viz. from 1469 A.D. to date, which incidently forms the Sikh history period. The results of the researches conducted in this institution have been published from time to time in the form of research monographs etc. Some of the important and rare manuscripts have also been published by this institute. So far it has published about a dozen works in English, Persian, Ūrdū and Punjābi. Some of its important publications are :-

1. Bandā Singh Bahādur in English by S. Gandā Singh (Out of Print).
2. Maharaja Ranjit Singh Centinary Volume (in English) out of Print.
3. Dewān-i-Nānak Shāh – Persian translation of the Sūkhmani of Gūrū Arjan – manuscript from National Library Paris with an introduction by S. Ūmrāo Singh Shergill (Persian).
4. Jang Nāmāh Qāzi Nūr Mohammad with English translation of Persian text edited by S. Gandā Singh, with an Introduction by Sir J.N. Sarkār (Out of Print).
5. Maharaja Ālā Singh and His Times (English) by S. Kirpāl Singh with an introduciion by Bhāi Sāhib Dr. Vīr Singh.
6. Dewān Kaurā Mal Bahādur (Punjābi) by S. Gandā Singh. (Out of Print).
7. History of Khālsā College, Amritsar, (English).
8. The Biographical Sketches of Bhāi Vasti Rām and Bhāi Rām Singh in English by S. Kirpāl Singh, with an introduction of Dr. Mohan Singh M.A., Ph.D., D. Litt.
9. Sikhān-de-Sewā (Punjābi) a brief account of humanitarian work done by the Sikhs of Calcuttā during the riots of 1946 by S. Kirpāl Singh with introduction by Principal Tejā Singh.

One of the aims and objects of Sikh History Research Department is to collect data pertaining to the history of the Modern Punjāb and history of the Sikhs in particular. For this purpose in view long tours have been undertaken and every effort has been made to collect material from far off places. Different scribes worked to prepare the transcribed copies or extracts copies of the manuscripts selected by Professors Incharge Sikh History Research Department. The following table will give an idea of the mss. transcribed from the libraries noted below :-

One of the efficient scribes who worked for Sikh History Research Department was Faizūl Huq. He worked at various places under the wise guidance of S. Gandā Singh, then Professor Incharge Sikh History Research Department. He transcribed twenty five manuscripts (mss). His transcribed works have got detailed table of contents, headings and sub-headings in red.

The important dates, name of the author and date of compilation, if available were prominently mentioned by him. In case he found two copies of the same manuscript from two different places he compared the text of the both and mentioned the variations in his marginal notes.

Where the facilities of the photostat apparatus existed the photostat copies were acquired. The photostat copies of some of the very important manuscripts relating to the Punjāb have been procured from British Museum and India Office Library, London and recently from Punjāb University Library, Lāhore (Pākistān). The photographic copies of important documents preserved in the Punjāb Government Record Office and historical documents in private collections have also been collected for the benefit of research and study. Besides this some original documents have also been acquired. Majmohiā-i-Mūraslāt (S.H.R 2) containing six original letters addresed to important persons and Parwānājāt Mahārājā Dalip Singh (S H.R. 1433) containing seventeen documents are original Persian records preserved in the Sikh History Research Department.

Two recent additions of the Persian Manuscripts to Sikh History Research Department are worth mentioning. In 1950 we selected 24 manuscripts and rare books from the Nawābs of Kūnjpurā Library, which the Custodian Department subsequently transferred to the Sikh History Research Department after settling their prices in 1960. General Shivdev Singh of Nābhā recently donated about 80 Persian Manuscripts. These included forty two mss. on Rāgās. The other manuscripts relate to very wide range of subjects – like fine art, art of calligraphy medicine, riddles, and literature etc. In several manuscripts text is illustrated by beautiful paintings on various pages. This gift made a colourful addition and brought a very rich variety of subjects in our collection which had hitherto been a purely historical one.

Some of the important manuscripts which are of special significance for the research scholars are noted below :-

Tārikh-i-Punjāb Būte Shāh (S.H.R. 1388-89)

It is a detailed history of the Punjāb uptil 1839 A.D. It has been acknowledged as one of the authentic accounts of the Sikhs by eminent writers like J. D. Cuningham who considered it to be "One of the best known accounts." The author was the employee of the British and had visited the Court of Maharaj Ranjit Singh. This ms. is, therefore, very valuable for the period of Maharaja Ranjit Singh viz 1799-1839 A.D.

Tārikh-i-Sikhān by Khūshwaqat Rāi, S.H.R. No. 1274 and 116.

It is very valuable manuscript dealing with the history of the Sikhs from Guru Nanak (1469–1539) to 1811 A.D. It was compiled at the instance of Sir Charles Metcalf. Prinsep and Captain Murray based their accounts of the Sikhs on this manuscript. The author was the intelligencer of the British and lived in Amritsar. This ms. therefore, gives minute details of early Sikh History which is the result of his intimate association with the Sikhs.

Chahār Gūlshan-i-Punjāb by Ganēsh Dāss, S.H.R. No. 1721.

It is an important work on the history of the Punjāb and more particularly on history of the Sikhs. It begins with the ancient history of the Punjāb and ends with the annexation of the Punjāb in 1849 A D. It was compiled in 1849 by Ganesh Dāss who was the Qanūngo of Gūjrāt during the reign of Mahārājā Ranjit Singh. The author has given very valuable account of the rise of the Sikhs as he was intimately connected with the region in which Maharaja's power was first established.

Khalsā Nāmāh by Bakhat Mal, S.H.R. 1659.

It is very important for the history of the Punjāb during later 18th Century. Mr. John Malcolm used this manuscript for writing his "Sketch of the Sikhs." The author was the Munshi of Dewān Gangā Rām who had served eminent persons of his time. Dewān Gangā Rām was suqsequently employed by Mahārājā Ranjit Singh. So the author had closely observed the events which he subsequently put to pen.

'Ibrat Namāh 'Ali-ūddin, S.H.R. No. 1277.

It is a very important manuscript on the history of the Punjāb. It relates the topographical and geographical details about the Punjāb and detailed history of the Sikhs uptil–1849 A.D. The author belonged to Lāhore and had migrated to Ludhiānā in 1824 A.D. where he took service with the British. He has written very comphensive account of the Punjāb with special reference to political, social and religious back ground. This ms. also furnihes very valuable information about the reign of Mahārajā Ranjit Singh.

Tuzik-i-Shāh Shūjāh, S.H.R. No. 94.

It is the autobiography of Shāh Shūjāh the deposed King of Afghānistan. It gives first hand information regarding his dealing with Mahārājā Ranjit Singh, his stay at Ludhianā and First Afghān War. The author was victim of the circumstances and he has himself narrated the account of his chequered career.

Shīr-o-Shakar by Pandit Dayā Rām, S.H.R. No. 399

This was compiled in 1814 A.D. Earlier the author had been an eye-witness of important events at Delhi. Later on he joined the service of Maharaja Ranjit Singh through Dewān Gangā Rām. Hence it gives very valuable contemporary account of Maharaja's expeditions and conquests.

Taḏhkirā-i-Anānd Rām, S.H.R. No. 94

This manuscript is very important for the history of the Punjāb during first half of 18th century as it gives first hand information regarding so many events in which author himself was present. The author has given a graphic account of the first invasion of Ahmad Shāh Abādli in 1748 A.D. as he accompanied the forces of Wazir Qammarūddin against the Afghān invader.

Memoirs of Tāhmās Khān 'Miskin', S.H.R. 1283.

It is a photostat copy acquired from the British Museum. Tāhmās Ḳhān had served the most eminent personages of his time like Mīr Manno, Mughlāni Begam, Zain Khān etc. He, therefore, gives first rate information regarding them. It is one of the most important sources regarding the eighteenth century history of the Punjāb.

Akhbār-i-Darbār-i-Mau'lā, S.H.R. 530 (a & b).

The rulers of Jaipūr state had employed their own chroniclers who used to record day to day events of the Mūghal Court. The Jaipur Records, therefore, supply very valuable information.[1] The news items collected in these volumes relate to the Punjāb and throw light on rise of Bandā Bahādur and his arrest by the Mūghal forces.

Akhbār-i-Darbār-i-Mau'lā (Poona), S.H.R. 603

Like Jaipūr state, the Marāthās at Poonā used to have their own news-writers who wrote news items in Persian. They belonged to particular families known as Pārsanis. These news-items are also called Pārsanis papers. These relate to the activities of the Sikhs in the cis-Sutlej territory during 18th century especially of Rājā Gajpat Singh of Jind, and Sardār Baghel Singh etc. These constitute an important source of information for the Sikh history.

Akhbārāt-i-Mūtfarqā, S.H.R 521.

This transcribed volume contains news items relating to the period from 1756 A.D. to 1798 A.D. These news items throw a flood of light on the activities of the Sikhs, invasions of Ahmad Shāh Abādli, relations of Jāts of Bharatpur with Najib etc. These news items have been collected from Jaipūr as well as from Poonā

Parwānājāt Mahārājā Dalip Singh, S.H.R. No. 1433.

These are original documents recently discovered. These were issued after First Sikh War and relate to different items. One has been addressed to all Jagirdārs and Kārdārs of Lāhore Kingdom exhorting them to co-operate with the British for supply of provision etc.

Parwānājāt Sardar Chattar Singh and Shēr Singh Attāri, S.H.R No. 1264-65

These documents throw light on the administration of Kashmīr during the post Ranjit Singh period of 1839-1849 A.D. Some of them relate to the Second Sikh War. Some documents are important for the economic history of the period as rates of different commodities are mentioned there. The transcribed copies of these document have been secured from the descendants of the Kārdārs working in the Jāgirs of S. Chattar Singh.

Mūraslāt Ahmed Shāh Dūrrāni, S.H.R 564.

These letters are very important for the history of Northern Western India during later half of 18th century as these throw a flood of light on the political condition of middle eighteen century. These letters have been addressed to the Afghān King by various Indian Chiefs.

Tārikh-i-Mūzafarī by Mohammad 'Ali Khān Ansāri, S.H.R. 424.

It has been considered as one of "the best histories of 18th century" It delineates the gradual decline of Mughal Empire and subsequent rise of the British, the Marāthās, the Sikhs, the Afghāns and the Rohillās. It furuishes very valuable information concerning the history of the Punjāb.

Ahwāl-i-Bayāz-i-Kashmīr by Nārain Kāul, S.H.R. 2197.

It gives very useful information about Kashmīr and its rulers from ancient times. It also gives the accounts of various governors who ruled Kashmir during the Mūslim period. Since the author belonged to Kashmīr he has given the details with personal intimacy.

Waqā-i-Jang-i-Sikhān, S.H.R. 1795.

It is a photostat copy acquired from Punjab University Library, Lāhore (Pakistan) in 1956. The author Dewān Ajudhyā Prasād was present in the First Anglo-Sikh War and he has given first hand information of the events. The author, in his narrative of the battles, has, however tried to justify the conduct of Lāl Singh by giving pro-British version.

Zabdātul Akhbār-Waqā-i-Mūltān, S.H.R. No. 7.

It a deals with the history of Multān from the Muslim period to the conquest of Multān by Mahārājā Ranjit Singh. The expeditions of the Sikhs to Multān have been given in detail.

'Ibrat Nāmāh by Mirzā Mohammad Hārṭhi, S.H.R. 231.

It is very valuable ms. for the history of the Punjāb from 1795 A.D. to 1719 A.D. as the author gives an eye-witness accounts of the rising of the Sikhs under Bandā Bahādur.

'I'brat Nāmāh Khair-ūddin, S.H.R. 555, 563 and 67.

This ms. is very important for the events 1760 to 1785 A.D. as it gives year wise account of those days. It gives a lot of information about the Mughal Emperor's relations with Marāthās and the Britishers. It also refers to the expliots of the Sikhs.

Tārikh-i-Hūssain Shāhi, S.H.R. No. 104.

This ms. gives the contemporary and eye witness account of later half of 18th century. The author accompenied Zamān Shāh to Kābūl and on his return compiled this work in 1798 A.D.

Haqiqat-i-Binā-wā-Arūj-i-Firqā-i-Sikhān, S.H.R. 1283.

It is a photostat copy. The author is Timūr Shāh Durrāni. It is a short history of the Sikhs from Gūrū Nānak to the conquest of Multān by Timūr Shāh. It supplies very valuable and useful information about the Sikhs and their rise.

Ahwāl-i-Bhāu wā Ahmad Shāh Durrāni by Kāshi Rāj S.H.R 45.

This ms. gives one of the most significant accounts of the Third Battle of Pānipat in 1761 A.D , which was one of the most important events of 18th century. The author was himself present in the battle. His account is considered as one of the best accounts.

Tārikh-i-Kūnjpūra, S.H.R. No. 2116.

This ms. gives the history of Kūnjpūrā state. It narrates an account of the foundation of Kūnjpūrā and its subsequent history including warfare between Kūnjpūrā (near Karnāl) and neighbouring Sikh state of Jind.

Ahwāl-i-Aulyā-i-Khūdā, S.H.R. No. 2117.

It is a very interesting ms. from theological point of view. The names of different Mūslim saints and their the long discourses and dialogues on mysticism etc. have been given there. At the end a life sketch of Khawājā Muyūddin Chīsti has been given.

My thanks and compliments are due to Col. Sir Būtā Singh C. B. E. Vice-President, Khālsā College, Amritsar, for taking keen interest in this project and for the encouragement given to me in accomplishing this work. I am grateful to Principal Sardār Shām Singh for his kind co-operation, Shri V. S. Sūri, Director of Archives Patiālā who despite of his other engagements, acceding to my request went through the manuscript of this catalogue, suggested improvement and wrotes its Foreward to Professor Dr. Tāran Singh who read its Preface and gave valuable suggestions and Shri Lachhman Dāss Shāiq, who assisted me in the preparation of the catalogue of literary manuscripts and read the proofs of Persian text.

This work would have not been accomplished so soon had Ministry of Scientific Research and Cultural Affairs, New Delhi, not approved and financed. this project. In this respect I am thankful to Shri V. P. Agnihotri, under Secretary, Ministry of Scientific Research and Cultural Affairs, New Delhi.
